Thank you for considering Emma Rosie's Homecookin' for your next event! Please be sure to read this page in its entirety before browsing through the menu; it will likely answer many questions that may arise. Please be aware that we have order minimums that we must generally follow. Please see the FAQ, About, and Photos pages of the website for this information and much more. Please call or email with questions and for our availability for your event date.

About the Menu & Meal Service

Your meal is not necessarily limited to the items on this menu; we can present you with custom options if the items listed here don't suit your event! If you have any special requests for your meal, please let us know, and we will do our best to accommodate. Special dietary needs can generally be accommodated if advance notice is given. All menu items may not be available for all size groups or at all venues; please confirm your choices with us before printing menus, etc. for your event.

The prices listed on this menu include buffet-style service, tended when appropriate, and upscale disposable dinnerware. Samples of disposables are available for viewing upon request. Special order disposables are also available. Stoneware dishes, stainless utensils, and glassware may be available for use depending on venue. Use of these will add $1.50 to the per person price. For events that are to be served rather than buffet-style, a $1.50 per person charge will apply. If the meal is buffet-style, but you would like your head table served, a flat fee of $25 will apply. Cake cutting services are available.

When you choose us, you will always receive well-presented, flavorful, quality food and personal service including professional, helpful staff to ensure the service at your event goes smoothly. We believe no other caterer in our area offers their customers the same great value we do.

Billing & Payment

Because our calendar often fills one year in advance, and we may turn away other customers after booking your event in order to ensure you and your event are given proper attention. We ask that you respect our business and other customers by letting us know as soon as possible if you anticipate a date change or cancellation. A contract and/or deposit may be required to hold your date.

A final guest count is required one week prior to your event, and that is the number we must use for billing purposes. Sales tax must be added to your bill. Some venues charge us a fee to provide food on their premises; any such fee incurred by us will also have to be added to your bill. A gratuity is never added to your bill, although it is customary in the catering industry and required by many caterers. An incredible amount of planning, organization, and labor goes into each event. If you were pleased with the service you received, please consider leaving a gratuity. Payment in full is due no later than the day of your event. Cash or check are preferred. If necessary, credit/debit card payments can be made online at our website or in person, however a 4% fee must be charged to cover the processing fee.

This menu is updated frequently, and all prices are subject to change unless you have received a menu and pricing confirmation email from Emma.
